Transferring to Marist allows students to pursue their academic ambitions in an environment that's aware of the unique needs of transfer students. In fact, 20% of Marist undergrads transferred here – that's one in five students and it speaks directly to the strong sense of community the College is recognized for.

One of the main reasons Marist is ranked so highly by US News, Princeton Review, and Barron's, among many others, are the undergraduate students. Our transfers in particular consistently prove to be the most academically driven, innovative, and self-aware. Their prior college experience has helped them understand exactly what they want, and they've come to Marist to achieve it.
